

Dear Expectant Parents,

Our names are Andy and Alison. We are so thankful you are considering adoption, and considering us as adoptive parents. We know that we can never fully understand or imagine the emotions that you are feeling, but we pray for you and that you have the faith that you need to find the right family. One who will love, cherish and share in the blessing of your gift of life. We are extremely humbled to be a part of this personal decision and want you to know that we are so excited about the prospect of welcoming your child into our family. It is our greatest desire to provide the kind of warm home where a child knows unconditional love, respect, integrity and honesty.

We met in 2002 while working together in Orlando, FL and started dating a year later. In 2007 we were married and spent the next few years in Orlando before moving to Jacksonville, FL in 2011 which is where we now live. Andy works in hotel management and oversees multiple hotels in the Jacksonville area. Alison works part time for an OB/GYN as a Medical Assistant and assisting in surgeries.

In 2016, through the gift of adoption, we became parents to our amazing son Ryan! It wasn't until he came into our lives that we fully understood what life was all about. To say Ryan is loved is an understatement. Ryan has 9 older cousins who adore him! Not to mention his Grandparents, Aunts and Uncles, and all the honorary Aunts and Uncles that have been on our crazy journey to start a family. The second Ryan was born he was surrounded with more love than one person could imagine.

We have truly enjoyed our time as a family of three, but we feel as though something is missing. We have always said we wanted Ryan to grow up with a sibling and we just feel as though this is the time to start trying to expand our family.

Though we have not met, we are in awe of your courage and compassion in this tough decision to choose adoption for your child. The gift of adoption is the ultimate act of profound love and selflessness. We promise that your baby will be loved, protected, celebrated, and will be surrounded by family and friends who will always celebrate and love them unconditionally. Your baby will always know about what the incredible sacrifice you made when people you placed your child's above those of your own.

Forever Grateful,

Andy and Alison

(and Ryan)
